

A Complicated Woman: South Carolina, Notorious USA

The latest in the New York Times Bestselling Notorious USA series South Carolina, where racial strife and righteous, heavily-armed indignation leads to murder. New York Times bestselling author Caitlin Rother brings readers compilation of crime stories from this former Confederate state: the first woman in South Carolina to go to the electric chair after a vengeful feud over a dead calf turned fatal; the states most prolific serial killer who managed to kill a fellow prisoner while on death row; and the young white man accused of trying to incite a race war by fatally shooting nine African-Americans during Bible study in a historic church. Praise for Caitlin Rother Rother is the next Ann Rule. Gregg Olsen, New York Times bestselling author of Starvation Heights I honestly could not stop reading Caitlin Rother's new book, THEN NO ONE CAN HAVE HER. The way she unfolded the mystery of who did it was accomplished with perfect pacing. And her closing chapters, written in first person, made my eyes water. It is riveting, revealing, and insightful. What a fabulous, fabulous book! Suzy Spencer, New York Times bestselling author of Wasted and Secret Sex Lives From the first page, Caitlin Rother makes the hair stand up on the back of your neck with this thorough, unforgettable account of greed, flawed love, and homicide. Its all here: A true, modern murder mystery, told with a reporters perceptiveness and a storytellers sensibilities. Ron Franscell, bestselling author of The Darkest Night and Delivered from Evil
