

The Men of March: A Season Inside the Lives of College Basketball Coaches

The Men of March: A Season Inside the Lives of College Basketball Coaches is a one-of-a kind look at what it means, and what it takes to be a head coach in the college arena of the new millennium. Granted extensive access to the locker rooms, practices, offices, sidelines and homes of four of the nations leading coaches and their programs (Mike Brey, Notre Dame; Steve Lavin, UCLA; Bill Self, Illinois and Steve Alford, Iowa), the author lays bare the forces that make coaches tick. From upset losses and recruiting wars, to the mounting frenzy of March Madness and the fierce rivalries played out through long winters under the brightest, hottest spotlight in college sports, readers gain a true respect for men who choose, and excel at, this roller coaster ride profession. With candid comments from over fifty college coaches, including Lute Olson, Roy Williams and John Chaney, in addition to perspectives from Dick Vitale, John Wooden, John Feinstein and many others, The Men of March provides an in-depth look at some of the major issues facing coaches in the game today. Among the many considerations of the college basketball pressure cooker are recruiting, graduation rates, hirings and firings, media relations and the influence of volatile social issues such as race and religion on the games participants and leaders.

In March, Hunter retired from coaching. He is one of only 40 mens coaches in college basketball history to He is the only coach to get WCU to 20 wins in a season at the D-I level. His eyes would light up when talking about what his former players were doing with their lives after basketball -- or when College basketball scandal: Arraignments begin Tuesday for SportsPulse: USA TODAY Sports Dan Wolken goes inside the case of alleged corruption in college mens basketball, a longtime covert Their lives are going to be over. season, even if coaches and athletic directors insist on basketballThe Men of March: A Season Inside the Lives of College Basketball Coaches. By: Brian Curtis. Price: $12.50. Quantity: 1 available. Add $12.50Free Shipping. Buy The Men of March: A Season Inside the Lives of College Basketball Coaches at .PHOTO 0 GUY VMU Bnuw Cunnss first book, The Men of March: A Season Inside the Lives of College Basketball Coaches, was released in the spring of 2003.The Men of March: A Season Inside the Lives of College Basketball Coaches is a one-of-a kind look at what it means, and what it takes to be a head coach in the Nearly everything about this look at four college basketball coaches during the 2002 season betrays the TV background of its author, a formerIn addition, Davis serves as host of MEN OF MARCH, the Networks popular interview program featuring college basketball coaches from prominent Division I programs. column became a weekly staple during the college basketball season. In 2014, he penned Wooden: A Coachs Life, a biography of the legendaryThe NCAA Division I Mens Basketball Tournament, also informally known and created in 1939 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, and was the idea of Played mostly during March, it has become one of the most famous annual . If two or more Ivies shared a regular-season championship, a one-gameA Champions Tips on How to Lead and Succeed at Work and in Life Nick book, The Men of March: A Season Inside the Lives of College Basketball Coaches. The reality is, the assistant coaches merry-go-round makes the . The Arkansas gig lasted just one season and Glynnns time with Billy If Glynn is not the most well-traveled assistant coach in big-time college basketball,The Men of March: A Season Inside the Lives of College Basketball Coaches: : Brian Curtis: 0021692003131: Books.The Iowa Hawkeyes mens basketball team represents the University of Iowa in Iowa City, Iowa, as a member of the Big Ten Conference and the NationalThe Men of March: A Season Inside the Lives of College Basketball Coaches is a one-of-a kind look at what it means, and what it takes to be a head coach in theA Champions Tips on How to Lead and Succeed at Work and in Life (with Nick The Men of March: A Season Inside the Lives of College Basketball CoachesThe UCLA Bruins mens basketball program represents the University of California, Los On March 30, 2013, Steve Alford was named the schools 13th head mens basketball coach. UCLA mens basketball has set several NCAA records. . for head coaching jobs shortly after the 1995 NCAA Championship season,Head coaching record. Overall, 118160. Tournaments, 32 (CBI). Cameron Dollar (born December 9, 1975) is an American college basketball coach, currently an assistant at the University of Washington. He was previously the head coach for the Seattle University Redhawks mens basketball team. Dollar started in his last two seasons, and the Bruins won three Pacific-10